

FATIMA THE SPINNER AND THE TENT

BY IDRIES SHAH

Illustrated by Natasha Delmar

Fatima's life is beset with what ~~seemed~~ to be disasters. Her journey leads her from Morocco to the Mediterranean, Egypt, Turkey and, finally, to China. It is in China that she realizes that what seemed at the time to be really unfortunate events were ~~an~~ integral part of her eventual fulfillment.

This Teaching-Story is well known in Greek folklore, but this version is attributed to Sheikh Mohamed Jamaludin of Adrianople (modern-day Edirne) in Turkey who died in 1750. It was first published by Idries Shah in 1967 in his classic work, Tales of the Dervishes, Teaching-Stories of the Sufi Masters over the past thousand years.

In the Sufi tradition there is a continuum between the children's story, the entertainment or folklore story, and the instructional or instrumental story. A story can help children deal with difficult situations and give them something to hold on to. It can, at the same time, stimulate a deeper understanding in adults.

For more than 30 years, Idries Shah collected such stories and made them available to contemporary Western culture where psychologists and educators commend them for their ability to help foster mental flexibility and insight in people of all ages.

Natasha Delmar lives and works in the San Francisco Bay Area. This is her second book in this series, the first one is the bestselling The Old Woman and the Eagle.

Europe

Africa

Middle East

Atlantic Ocean

Arabian Sea

Indian Ocean

W

S

Asia

China

East China Sea

South China Sea

Ocean

Australia

ATIMA THE SPINNER AND THE TENT

written by Idries Shah

HOOPOE BOOKS
BOSTON

Text copyright © 2004 by The Estate of Shiru Shob

Illustrations copyright © 2004 by Notoshu Ohtani

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

No part of this publication may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying and recording, or by any information storage or retrieval system, except as may be expressly permitted in writing from the publisher. Requests for permission should be addressed in writing to:

Hoopoe Books, PO Box 381069, Cambridge MA 02238-1069

Visit www.hoopoebooks.com
for a complete list of Hoopoe titles, CDs, DVDs, an introduction to the use of Teaching-Stories™ and parent/teacher guides.

First Edition 2004

Published by Hoopoe Books,
a division of The Institute for the Study of Human Knowledge

ISBN 1-883536-47-1

Library of Congress www.loc.gov in-Publication Data

Shob, Shiru. 1924-

Follow the spider and the tent / written by Shiru Shob ; illustrated by Notoshu Ohtani. – 1st ed.
p. cm.

Summary: When a series of misadventures leads him to China where he is asked to make a tent for the Emperor, Tazuma comes to realize the value of all his past experiences in helping him forge a new and happier life.

ISBN 1-883536-47-1 (hbk)

[1. Foliolet.] I. Ohtani, Notoshu, ill. II. Title.

PZD1 .S47 F44 2004

398.23--dc22

0000000001

Once, in a city in the Farthest West, there lived a girl called Fatima. She was the daughter of a prosperous spinner, who taught her to spin.

One day her father said to her, "Come, daughter, we are going on a journey, for I have business in the islands of the Middle Sea. Perhaps you may find some handsome youth in a good situation whom you could take as husband."

hey set off and traveled from island to island, the father doing his trading while Fatima dreamt of the husband who might ~~soon~~ be hers.

One day, however, they were on the way to Crete when a storm blew up, and the ship was wrecked.

atima, only half conscious, was cast up on the seashore near Alexandria. Her father was drowned, and she was utterly destitute.

She could only remember dimly her life until then, for her experience of the shipwreck and her exposure in the sea had exhausted her.

While she was wandering on the sands, a family of weavers found her. Although they were poor, they took her into their humble home and taught her their craft.

Thus it was that she made a second life for herself, and within a year or two she was happy and reconciled to her lot.

ut one day, when she was on the seashore for some reason, a band of slave-traders landed and carried her, along with other captives, away with them.

Although she bitterly lamented her new situation, Fatima found no sympathy from her captors, who took her to Istanbul to sell her ~~as a~~ slave.

Her world had collapsed for a second time.

Now it chanced that there were few buyers at the market. One of them was a man who was looking for slaves to work in his woodyard, where he made masts for ships.

When he saw the dejection of the unfortunate Fatima, he decided to buy her. He thought that in this way, at least, he might be able to give her a slightly better life than if she were bought by someone else.

He took Fatima to his home, intending to make her a serving-maid for his wife.

When he arrived at the house, however, he found that he had lost all his money in a ship's cargo which had been captured by pirates. He could not afford workers, so he, Fatima and his wife were left alone to work at the heavy labor of making masts.

Fatima, grateful to her employer for rescuing her, worked so hard and so well that he freed her from slavery, and she became his trusted helper.

Thus it was that she became comparatively happy in her third career as a mast-builder,

One day the man said to her, "Fatima, I want you to go with a cargo of ships' masts to Java as my agent, and be sure that you sell them at a profit."

he set off, but when the ship was off the coast of China, a typhoon wrecked it, and Fatima found herself once again cast up on the seashore of a strange land.

She wept bitterly, for she felt that nothing in her life was working in accordance with expectation. Whenever things seemed to be going well, something came and destroyed all her hopes.

"Why is it," she cried out, "that whenever I try to do something I come to grief? Why should so many unfortunate things happen to me?" But there was no answer.

So, she picked herself up from the sand and started to walk inland.

Now it happened that nobody in China had heard of Fatima, or knew anything about her troubles. But there was a legend that a certain stranger, a woman, would one day arrive there and that she would be able to make a tent for the Emperor. And, since there was as yet nobody in China who could make tents, everyone looked upon the fulfillment of this prediction with the liveliest anticipation.

Successive Emperors of China wanted to make sure that this stranger, when she arrived, would not be missed. So, every year, they sent heralds to all the towns and villages of the land, asking for any foreign woman to be produced at Court.

When Fatima stumbled into a town by the seashore, it was one such occasion.

The people spoke to her through an interpreter and explained that she would have to go to see the Emperor.

國王
賜我一下
臨時起見
達名認
的懂得
國得建 文建達

adv," said the Emperor, when Fatima was brought before him. "can you make a tent?"

"I think so," said Fatima.

he asked for rope, but there was none to be had.

So, remembering her time as a spinner, she collected flax and made ropes.

Then she asked for strong cloth, but the Chinese had none of the kind that she needed. So, drawing on her experience with the weavers of Alexandria, she made some sturdy tent-cloth.

hen she found that she needed tent-poles, but there were none in China. So, Fatima, remembering how she had been trained by the mast-builder of Istanbul, cunningly made strong tent-poles.

When these were ready, she racked her brains for the memory of the tents she had seen in her travels...

And Lo... ■ tent was made!

W

hen this wonder was revealed to the Emperor of China, he offered Fatima the fulfillment of any wish she cared to name. She chose to settle in China, where she married a handsome prince, and where she remained in happiness, surrounded by her children, until the end of her days.

It was through these adventures that Fatima realized that what had appeared to be an unpleasant experience at the time, turned out to be an essential part of the making of her ultimate happiness.

Little Books by Idries Shah

For Young Readers

The Boy Without a Name
The Clever Boy and the Terrible, Dangerous Animal
The Farmer's Wife
The Lion Who Saw Himself in the Water
The Man with Bad Manners
The Magic Horse
The Man and the Fox
Meet the Wolf Boy
The Old Woman and the Eagle
The Silly Chicken
The Farmer's Wife/ La Señora del Campesino
El hombre maldecido
El hombre y el agua
The Lion Who Saw Himself in the Water
El león que se vio en el agua
The Silly Chicken/ El pollo bobo
World Tales

Literature

The Hundred Tales of Wisdom
A Perfumed Scorpion
Caution of Dreams
Wisdom of the Idiots
The Magic Monastery
The Dervish Prayer

Novel

Kano Kuli

Informal Beliefs

Oriental Magic
The Secret Loss of Magic

Fiction

The Exploits of the Incomparable Malik Nasrudin
The Pleasures of the Incredible Malik Nasrudin
The Subtleties of the Inimitable Malik Nasrudin
Special Illustrations

Human Thought

Learning How to Learn
The Elephant in the Dark
Fainters of the East
Reflections
A Veiled Gaze
Seeker After Truth

Sufi Studies

The Sufis
The Way of the Sufi
Tales of the Dervishes
The Book of the Book
Neglected Aspects of Sufi Study